

(Copyright, 1903, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

LIP th' piller a leetle higher up, Mirey," said the old man, peevishly. "Th' cher hurts my back-an' th' sun's a shinin' right in my eyes."

The girl tenderly adjusted the pillow and with masculine strength lifted the rude chair with its paralytie burden to a shadier spot under the apple tree.

"Ye ain't a treatin' Jake right, Mirey," grumbled the old man. "He

"Mebbe I am-mebbe I ain't," the girl said, impatiently. The old man looked up at her anxiously. "I knowed it," he exclaimed. "I've seed it a comin' ever sence that Evans come a snoopin' 'round here, a pizenin' yer mind with his stories 'bout fine: houses, an' great ladies, an' dresses, an' dimunds. What brought him 'way up here in this wild place? Who knows what he is, ennyhow? Like as not he's one of them revnoo spies." "Ye've got no call to slander him that a way, pap," retorted the girl, hotly. "Lots of them city folks spends their vacations in th' mountains. An' ennybody kin see he's a gentleman. He ain't no spy."

There were hot words over the young city man, leaving the old man sullen and dissatisfied and the girl defiant. As she turned to go he said: "Mirey, they's sumthin' I clean for- Mirey."

got to tell Jake when he come by, an' I must see him. He ain't more'n half way to th' stul, yit. Run, Mirey, ye must bring him back."

The girl hurried obediently down the steep path and along the base of the mountain, smiling as she went.

"I kin coax him into it after while," sumbody. Rob says I kin have ennything I-"

A crash, a rattle of descending stones, a smothered ejaculation, and two struggling, interlocked men rolled down into the path below her. One of them, wrenching the revolver from the other's hand, arose panting, don't tempt me." tall and powerful. His opponent lay quite still, blood trickling from a forward and raised the wounded head upraised in the shaking hands. in her arms.

"Ye've killed him," she moaned. "He's only stunned a leetle," growled the tall man. "He was a he tried to shoot. He's a spy, sure." Mirey."

"You lie, Jake!" the girl cried, de-"An' this won't do ye no good, nuther."

The tall man bent down and from the inner pocket of the stylish coat drew a long, official-looking envelope. "Look at that, Mirey," he cried, with a note of triumph. "Frum th' Internal Revnoo D'partment!" "That ain't his name on it-it's fer sumbody else," she protested, wildly. "Let me read what's inside."

She reached up a trembling hand, took the opened sheet and her sunbrowned face turned pale. The wounded head dropped from the en- an' they've heered th' shots." circling arms and she staggered to her feet, swaving, crushing the letter in her hands. The man at her eyes-they shall never know." feet stirred and sighed. The tall man

Make?" asked the girl. quietly, almost inaudibly.

tered, with a significant glance. to fergit him." "But tain't fer me to say. Th' boys'll decide that."

git away."

"I-I kain't-bring them, Jake. I'll agely. "Give me th' gun."

flinchingly.

"Kin I trust we, Mirey?"

"Don't I know what'll happen ef he gits :away," she cried, indignantly. "D'ye think I'd send pap and-and you-to prison? I'll kill him first. Go-an' hurry."

She seated herself on a nearby the grave, rugged face. bowlder and with drawn face and conscious captive. The bees, homegoing, heavy-laden, droned musically among the blossoms, loath to leave. From the distant river came the faint whisthe of a passing boat. A gneat, black buzzard flapped heavily down upon the dead limb of a sycamore, wiped his hooked beak on his sable plumage and cocked his the air is chilly. Fermez la fenetre. baleful eye inquisitively at the fallen

The captive heaved a long, quivering sigh, opened his eyes, struggled, and sat up, staring about him con-

"Mirey," Ire said, faintly. "Is that vou. Mirey?"

He drew his feet under him to rise. The revolver in the brown hand rose quickly, leveled at his face.

"Don't ye try it," the girl said, "I'll shoot-an' ye know I don't miss." "Mirey! Have you turned against long enuff, Joseph Armacost," she

The breeze rustled the letter at her feet. He glanced at it and started. "I guess the play's over," he observed, wearily. She made no reply. After awhile he looked up again and said softly: "Mirey, before they-before I gowill you forgive me?"

She turned away her head to hide the tears of wounded pride that would not be repressed.

"It was mean, cruel, despicable," he continued, "but we have to do such things sometimes-they're a part of our orders. I wish you could understand and forgive me, Mirey."

"Fergive ye!" she burst out. "Fergive ye! You lied to me, made love to me, learned me to love-yes, to ain't said nothin', but I kin see it; love-sich a snake as you. You'd an' you a goin' to marry him this have sent poor old pap to prison, an' made me an outcast-a convict's darter. Fergive ye? Never-you hound."

"Mirey, it wasn't all a lie. I did admire you-I do yet. And I intended to arrange that your father might escape if-Then ye wouldn't have done yer duty. You'd have played traitor to both sides. Don't talk to me. I don't never want to hear yer voice."

There was a long silence—then the man remarked:

"I suppose Jake has gone after the "Don't mention Jake's name. You ain't fit to. He's a man." "Look here, Mirey. Do you realize what you are doing? You are helping murder me, as surely as though you had shot me through the head with that revolver. Do you understand what that means-to take human life-in cold blood? Bad as I am I never did what you are doing now. You are helping murder me,

The girl shuddered again, then steeled herself.

"How do I know what they'll do with ye? That's their bizness-not mine. You an' them fer that."

"Mirey, you know as well as I that I'll never see another sunrise if you keep me here 30 minutes longer. You she murmured, "an' then I kin be loved me once, Mirey. An hour ago you would have gone with me to the ends of the earth. Do you hate me so now that you will stain your soul with my blood?"

She gave a great sob.

"What kin I do? I dasen't let ye go. Let me alone. Fer God's sake

He strained his strong wrists, the handkerchief fell over the supple, wound on the curly, handsome head. pliant hands, and he sprang to his With a choking cry Mirey sprang feet, defying the deadly weapon "Stop! I'll have to shoot! I promised Jake-ye're a spy." "Shoot, then, Mirey. I'd better die that way than by torture. Shootfollerin' me, an' when I s'prised him right here-between the eyes-be

> The dark eyes looked into his, filled with tears, and the grim muzzle dropped.

"O, Rob-I kain't-I'm a coward." He sprang forward, seized the weapon, and fired every chamber in the air.

"Now, you've done your duty," he exclaimed, breathlessly. "You've fired every bullet at me and only wounded me as I ran. I've a boat concealed at the river. Goodby, Mirey."

She grasped his arm and clung to him desperately.

"Not till I know ye won't inform on pap and-Jake. I must know that, er I'll hold ye till they come-

"Could I betray you-after you've saved me? Mirey-girl-look in my knelt and with his handkerchief him. He stooped to kiss her, but she She looked, knew, and released thound the unresisting hands cruelly thrust him back fiercely. He seized the brown right hand, pressed it to "What ye goin' to do with him, his lips, and bounded away. The girl fell on her knees.

"O, Lord, fergive me fer what I've "Ye've heered rumors of what went done. Fergive me fer the lie I'm with 'tother one," the tall man mut- about to tell. An', O, God, help me

Then she pressed her burning lips to the brown right hand, rubbed the The girl shuddered and turned spot madly with the crushed letter, and, with a little moan, cast the pa-"You'll have to go an' tell th' boys, per away, as she cast him from her Mirey, while I watch him. He musn't heart, and rose to face the hurrying Late that night when Jake rewatch him. He'll not git away," sar- turned, weary and desperate, from the fruitless search, Mirey, from the Jake's eyes looked searchingly old man's side, stepped forward in into hers. She met the scrutiny un- the moonlight to meet him.

"Jake," she said, softly, "don't worry. He'll never tell. I know." Jake looked down, sternly, into the dark eyes.

"Mirey-you let him go." She laid both brown hands on his arm and looked up, pleadingly, into

"Yes-it was better. I've been a cold, pitiless eyes megarded the un- fool, Jake. But it's all past now. An' -Jake-ye needn't wait till fall-ef ye'll have me yit."

Jake stooped, kissed the quivering lips, put his strong arm about her, and led her to the smiling old man.

Vanity.

Mr. Potts (to his wife)-My dear, The Visitor (sotto voce)-Why do you ask your wife in French to shut the window?

"Because you are here. If I asked her in English she wouldn't do it, as she won't take instructions from me before visitors. But if I say it in French she gets up and does it at once, so as to let you see that she understands the language. "-Pick-Me-Up.

Adopts German System. ' After repeated experiments, the United States navy has decided to adopt the Slaby-Arco German wireless telegraphy system, which has been "Hain't ye played th' hypocrite demonstrated to be the most practical, THE BABIES OF SIAM.

They Are Troubled Very Little with Clothes and Are All Called "Dang."

When a Siamese baby is born the mother is removed from the bed and laid upon a long, narrow, flat board. By her side a big fire is made in a portable earthenware stove. The servants or friends scatter round the house a certain kind of fruit which is supposed to be efficacious in preventing the entrance of evil spirits. A cord also encircles the house. This cord has been blessed by the priests, and is another barrier against supernatural visitants, says London Queen.

As a matter of fact, what with the heat of the fire, the heat of the climate, and the presence of many people in the room, it is so stiflingly hot and uncomfortable that it may be doubted whether evil wanderers from below would care to sojourn there. Ther are always three old women present on these occasions, whose business it is to solicit for the little one the patronage and protection of sundry guardian angels. They make three balls of rice, and throw them in lucky directions, and so insure a certain amount of good fortune for the babe.

All babies in Siam have the same name when they are born. This is "Dang," which means "red." It is a silly name to give, for though a Siamese baby is a trifle like raw beef in color, it is at once covered over with a yellow paste, which gives it the appearance of suffering from a highly concentrated and expansive form of billous attack. This yellow paste is made of turmeric powder, and it is supposed to keep away mosquito

The baby wears no clothes, and continues to appear in the same lack of apparel for several years. Boys and girls alike do without clothing for a comparatively long time.

This undress uniform, it may be noted, possesses certain distinct advantages. It is cool, sanitary and economical. Children are frequently adorned with massive gold and silver bracelets and anklets. They wear a little silver shield fastened in front of the body by a string of beads. This shield is purely ornamental, playing no essential part in the child's costume, for it is often lost and not replaced, the string of beads remaining maybe for several months longer.

ANIMAL CHARACTERISTICS.

Some to Which the Emission of Noxious Odors Is a Means of Protection.

"That the strong odors emitted by many living creatures may play a protective role in their lives has been often suggested," said an attendant at the zoo to a Washington Star map.

"A considerable number of animals, as is well known, emit strong odors, which are generally unpleasant, at least to man. and naturalists have often considered these odors as playing an important part in the biology of the animal. The odor protects it and serves to drive away certain enemies. It is certain, for example, that the skunk, whose disagreeable odor is so strong that it remains from autumn to spring in a place where one of the creatures has been killed, is very generally respected by carnivorous animals. But some other odors are hardly protective. It is true that they then play another part. They consittute a secondary sexual characteristic, often limited to one sex by which the males and females find each other out at the mating season, and which disappears when this s over. There are some moths that exhale an odor of musk, only the males have it, and these only at the mating season. An Australian duck emits a marked odor which is restricted to the male, and is strongest in spring. "But with many animals there are strong odors that seem to have no sexual character and to confer no particular protection against other animals. In addition it would seem that other odors attract enemies. Crows seem to have a special liking for insects with a strong odor. Certain birds have a taste for those myriapods that exhale a marked odor of prussic acid. Perhaps we must conclude from these facts that the tastes of animals, so far as smells are conrerned, differ sensibly from ours."

Delicate Contrivance.

Delicate vibrations too slow to produce sound—that is, having a rate of less than 16 per second-are made audible by a new apparatus. A ten-pound weight, having a small carhon plate cemented vertically to its ride, is suspended from the arm of a standard by a stout rubber band, and a carbon block is placed on the floor or other vibrating body, with a slender graphite pencil resting on it and leaning against the carbon plate. The carbon block and carbon plate are connected with a telephone in an electric circuit. When the apparatus is placed on a wood floor, the heart beat of a person standing near produces an audible vibration in the telephone, as do also delicate tremors and distant vibrations from any source.-Science.

Very Conservative. Conservatism is believed to be the distinguishing characteristic of Engishmen. A young man of Bermuda, of English descent, now residing in New York city, shows that the belief is well founded. He imports his collars from St. George's Town, on the island where he was born, not because he has any prejudice against American-made goods, nor because he can't get a collar to suit his needs in one of the thousand or more shops where collars are sold here, but simply that he is used to the sort that he imports. "It's the kind I've always had, y' know." he says, by way of explanation.

Way Some Debaters Have. Cmith-Jones is a very convincing debater, isn't he?

Brown-Yes? he never stops till he has convinced you that he is wrong.

MAKE FIGURES LOCK SMALL. Mental Mathematicians Get to Work and Simmer Them Down to Nearly Nothing.

Whitelaw Reid, of New York, in the annual address before Phi Beta Kappa society, of Vassar college, discussed divorce and its attendant evils. He said: "Six hundred and fifty-four thousand persons divorced in this country during the last 20 years."

This statement, says the narrator of the story, caused wrinkles and furrows to form on the forehead of one prim maiden. A flash of the eye, and then a whisper to an attentive classmate: "That's equal to $2,700 persons a year."

The classmate's brow now began to denote activity: "Or 2,725 persons a month."

"Or 681 persons a week," said the first mental arithmetician. "Ninety-seven persons each day sever marital relations," was the next computa-"Why, that's only four persons an hour," came as a cheerful rejoinder.

"Pooh, only one couple every half hour."
"And they say there are 70,000,000 people in this country."
"What a narrow view some men take

And the other nodded an agree-

Merit Makes It the World's Leader. Merit, greatest medicine ever put into convenient form for quick, easy, pleasant use—backed by the right kind of advertising, has given Cascarets the greatest sale in the world among laxative medicines. Over ten million boxes a year are now being bought by the American people. Great success always brings out imitators, and readers are warned that when it comes to buying medicine the best is none too good, and whenever a dealer offers to sell you something just as good, put it down as a worthless fake, put your money in your pocket, and go to a store where you will be treated fairly, and where, when you ask for Cascarets, you will get what you ask for.

Too Suggestive of the Past. "No, the Duckleighs never have hay

"But I thought they had everything that was fashionable."

"Yes, but they are a little sensitive about hay fever. Their father used to run a feed store, you know."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer Plain-Dealer.

Men and Women alike find pleasure in profitable invest-ments. We have a number of interesting publications that tell of sections on the line of the M., K. & T., where the careful investor has an opportunity for placing capital profitably. Send two-cent stamp to prepay postage, to "KATY," Suite B., St. Louis, Mo.

Nothing in the world is more haughty than a man of moderate capacity when once raised to power.-Wessenburg.

To Cure a Cold in One Day. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

If you stand too much upon your dignity, somebody is sure to walk on it. Chicago Tribune.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—Mrs. Thos. Robbins, Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900. Too many words be worse than not enough, for they'll often leave a man's meaning foggy.—Eden Philpotts.

The Overland Limited, solid train Chicago to the Coast daily. Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line.

to the lie.-Ram's Horn. Old Sofas, Backs of Chairs, etc., can be dyed with Putnam Fadeless Dyes.

MARKET REPORT. Cincinnati, Aug. 15. CATTLE-Common . $2 75 @ 4 00 Heavy steers 5 00 @ 5 35 CALVES-Extra HOGS-Ch. packers . 5 60 Mixed packers 5 40 SHEEP-Extra 3 25 LAMBS—Extra 5 90 FLOUR-Spring pat. 4 50 @ 5 00 WHEAT-No. 2 red. 821/2 No. 3 winter 82 CORN-No. 2 mixed. OATS-No. 2 mixed. 35 RYE-No. 2 57 58 0 HAY-New timothy ... @14 00 PORK-Clear family. @15 20 LARD-Steam @ 7 10 BUTTER-Ch. dairy. 12 @

Choice creamery .. 21 APPLES—Fancy 1 75 POTATOES—Per bbl 1 65 @ 2 50 @ 2.00 TOBACCO-New ... 3 50 Old 5 50 Chicago. FLOUR-Winter pat. 3 75 @ 3 90 WHEAT-No. 2 red. 823/4@ 833/4

No. 3 spring 78 @ CORN-No. 2 mixed. OATS-No. 2 mixed. 351/2@ RYE—No. 2 52 @ 52 PORK—Mess12 87½@13 00 LARD-Steam 7 75 @ 7 80 New York.

FLOUR-Win. st'rts. 3 65 @ 3 90 WHEAT-No. 2 red. @ 871/4 @ 595/a CORN-No. 2 mixed. OATS-No. 2 mixed. RYE—Western @ 59 PORK—Family17 50 @18 00 @ 8 00

LARD-Steam Baltimore. WHEAT-No. 2 red. 831/4@ 833 CORN-No. 2 mixed. 571/8@ OATS-No. 2 mixed. 0 CATTLE-Steers ... 5 00 HOGS-Western Louisville. WHEAT-No. 2 red. CORN-No. 3 mixed. OATS-No. 2 mixed. 35 PORK-Mess @14 50 LARD-Steam @ 7 75 Indianapolis.

WHEAT-No. 2 red. CORN-No. 2 mixed. 52 OATS-No. 2 mixed. 33

THE SALESWOMAN

Compelled to Be on Her Feet the Larger Part of the Day Finds a Tonic In Pe-ru-na.

M ISS NELLIE CURTAIN, 646 Pearl street, St. Paul, Minn., head saleswoman in a department store writes:

"I have charge of a department in a dry goods store, and after standing the larger part of the day, I would go walk to and from the store now. I know Peruna to be the best medicine on the market for the diseases peculiar dies."—Mark H. Dunnell. to women."-Miss Nellie Curtain.

Nothing is so weakening to the human system as the constant loss of mucus. Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane produces an excessive formation of mucus. Whether the mucous membrane be located in the head or The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

This discharge of mueus constitutes a weakening drain; the system cannot long withstand the loss of mucus, hence it is that women afflicted with catarrhal affections of the pelvic organs feel tired and languid, with weak back and throbbing brain. A course of Peruna is sure to restore health by cutting off the weakening drain of the daily loss of mucus. An Admirable Tonic.

Congressman Mark H. Dunnell, Na. tional Hotel. Washington, D. C., writes: "Your Peruna being used by myself home with a dull ache, generally and many of my friends and acquaint-through my entire body. I used Peruna and feel so much better that I but also as an admirable tonic for physical solutions. ical recuperation, I gladly recommend

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of

You know how a bull dog bites. When he sets his jaw, hardly anything but death will cause him to let go his hold.

Same with a microbe; only more so. Get rid of him, or he'll get rid of you. By degrees, as he continues to live and multiply, he will so poison your blood, as to make you very

The only way to drive out microbes, is to take some medicine which will go right into, and sterilize, the blood. Nothing will do this like

It contains a germicide which is directly absorbed by the blood vessels, and which, while enriching the blood with vital particles, paralyzes and destroys all germs, parasites and microbes. This done, the other ingredients of this great pharmaceutical preparation, principally cod liver oil, glycerine and hypophosphites of lime and soda, proceed quickly to build up the flesh and strength of Literally and actually, Ozomulsion will feed you back to health. Do not hesitate or delay. If you are out of sorts, under the weather, weak, tired, irritable, anxious, or suffer from pains, aches, stomach, liver or kidney disorder, weak heart, lungs, consumption, or have other indications of microbial poisoning the patient, and so make him well.

WRITE FOR FREE BOTTLE of Ozomulsion Food (by postal card or letter), which will at once be sent you, on request Free By Mail Prepaid. It is the Food Physicians use and prescribe the year round, in their own families and practice, and Dealers sell in Large Bottles Weighing

Over Two Pounds. Address Ozomulsion Food Co 98 Pine Street - NEW YORK

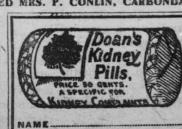

Misplaced Affection. The Eskimos were very angry with the arctic explorer. What did he do?" asked the member of the relief expedition. "He petted our dogs," explained the native. "Is there any harm in petting your dogs?"

Yes; their tails were frozen stiff, and when they went to wag them they broke off."—Stray Stories. Johnny — "Grandpa, have you any teeth?" Grandpa—"No, my child, they have all gone." Johnny—"Then I think I'll let you hold my nuts while I run an errand."—Glasgow Evening Times.

The Chicago & North-Western is the only double track railway between Chicago and the Missouri River.

You cannot live by another's experience.-Ram's Horn.

COMPELLED TO USE A CRUTCH FOR EIGHT MONTHS. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED MRS. P. CONLIN, CARBONDALE, PA. Mrs. P. Conlin, 82 Greenfield Avenue, Carbondale, Pa., says: "I suffered with backache, and, despite the use of medicines, I could not get rid of it. I was compelled to use a crutch for eight months, and a part of the time was unable to walk at all. I fairly screamed if I attempted to lift my feet from the floor, and, finally, I lost control of my limbs through weakness, as I could neither bend nor straighten up to my full height, and if ever a woman was in a serious condition. I was. My husband went to Kally's drug store and brought home a box of Doan's Pills. I felt easier in a few days, and, postinuing the treatment, I Mrs. P. Conlin, 82 Green was soon able to walk. At the end of two weeks the pains in my loins left. When I had completed the treatment, I had not an ache nor a pain, and I have been in that condition ever since.

Aching backs are eased. Hip, back, and loin pains overcome. Swelling of the limbs and dropsy signs vanish.

They correct urine with brick dust sediment, high colored, pain in passing, dribbling, frequency, bed wetting, Doan's Kidney Pills remove calculi and gravel. Relieve heart pulpitation, sleeplessness, headache, revelation in combined cleansing and bealing power. It kills all disease germs. In local treatment of female ills it is invaluable. Heals Inflammation and cures all discharges. Never fails to cure Nasal Catarrh. Cures offensive perspiration of arm pits and feet. Cures Sore Throat, Sore Mouth and Sore Eyes.

As a tooth powder nothing equals it. Removes Tartar, Hardens the Gums and whiten the teeth, makes a bad breath sweet and agreeable that it is the greatest cure for Leucorrhoea ever discovered. We have yet to hear of ever discovered. We have yet to hear of the first case it failed to cure. To prove all this we will mail a large trial package with book of instructions absolutely free. This is not a tiny sample, but enough to convince anyone. At druggists or sent postpaid by us, 50 cts. large box. Satisfaction guaranteed. The R. Paxton Co., Dept. 26 Boston, Mass.

PATENTS 48-page book free. Long experience Highest references. FITZG ERALL CO., Box K, Washington, D. C.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advartises ment in this paper,